

South Carolina

Look familiar?

A Tribute to Trees by Ginger White

A Tribute to Trees by Ginger White

This book was created for the Ridgewood Camera Club's "Artistic Challenge" in March 2020. Trees are such an integral part of our daily lives, providing beauty, privacy, shade, natural resources, and homes and food to countless species of birds and animals throughout the world. I've always been intrigued by the individual shapes and textures of trees and how some of them seem to have human characteristics. The images portrayed here are, of course, limited to my personal experience, close to home, in South Carolina, and out west, mainly.

Look familiar?

A Tribute to Trees by Ginger White

A Tribute to Trees by Ginger White

Fallen tree, Oregon coast

Old Tappan, NJ

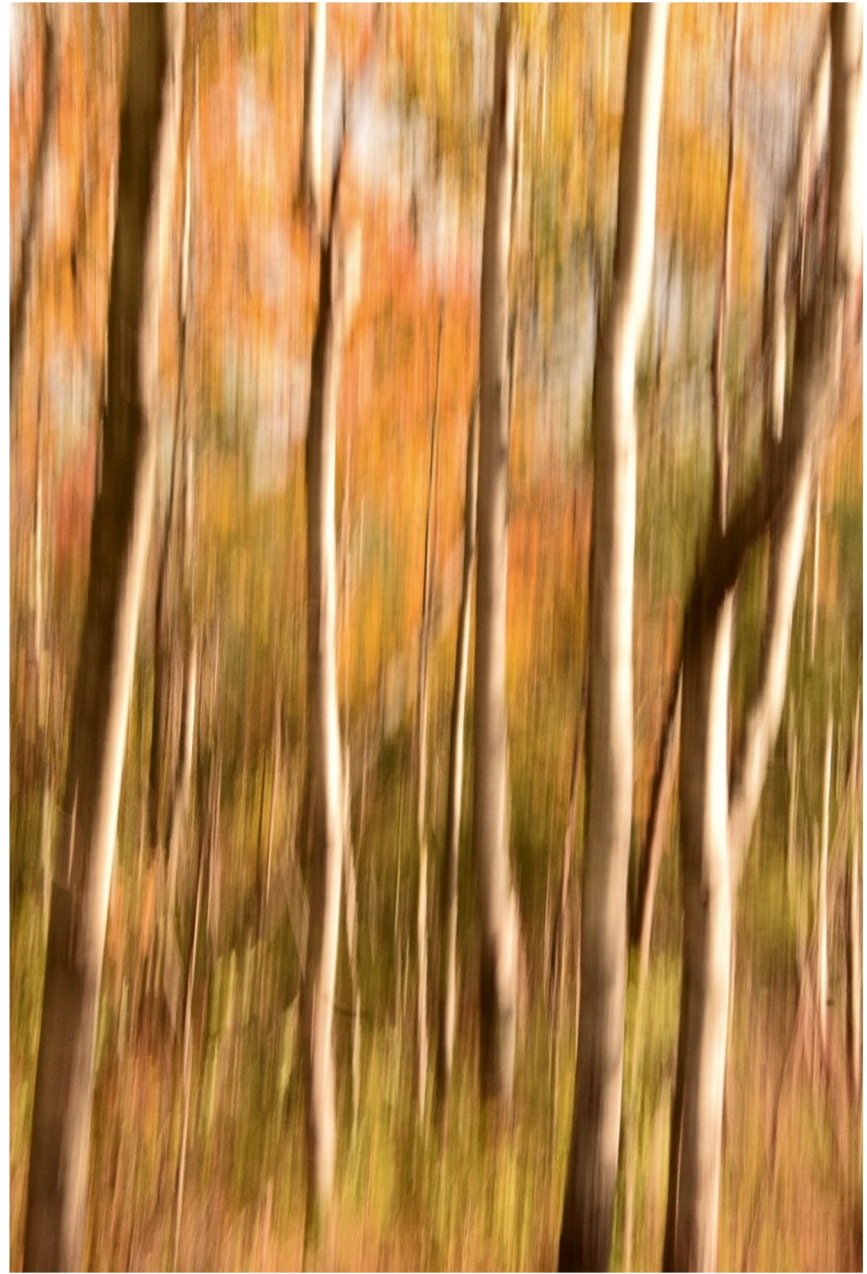

Bonnabel Park, Old Tappan, NJ

Cherry trees in bloom, Rockland County, NY

Oak Alley, Brookgreen Gardens, SC

Autumn Impressions

Tree roots, Ixtapan de la Sal, Mexico

Brooklyn Botanical Gardens in Spring

Autumn color in Arizona

Cypress, South Carolina

Birch tree in snow, Old Tappan, NJ

Tree in Costa Rican rainforest

*Palm tree
Costa Rica*

Live Oaks, Magnolia Gardens, SC

Towering Redwoods, Big Sur, CA

Moss covered trees, Oregon

Manzanita trees, Oregon

Snowy branches, Banff, Alberta, Canada

Redwood, California

Exposed trunk, Big Trees State Park, CA

Bryce Canyon, Utah

Bark closeups

Redwood in autumn, Big Trees State Park, CA

Big Trees State Park, CA

Bear Mountain State Park, NY

Bark closeup, Big Trees State Park, CA

Driftwood closeups, Oregon coast

Piermont, NY